Epigraph

[French: Épigraphe]

An epigraph marks a quotation(s) placed at the beginning of a publication or a chapter.

If an epigraph comes at the very start of the work, provide the section with the title Epigraph and mark the title with a Heading 1. If an epigraph comes before a chapter (usually between the chapter title and text), it does not need a heading.

Use the Blockquote (DAISY) style to identify each quotation. Use the Author (DAISY) or Citation (DAISY) style to identify the author of the quotation, depending on what is applicable.
